Good evening, Principal Chou, teachers, parents, guests, and fellow Camoesians.

I’m Jason Wong, the newly elected Chairman of the fifteenth Parent-Teacher Association. Thank you all so much for being here today at our Annual General Meeting.

First off, I would like to ask everyone to put your hands together—and keep the applause going—for our fourteenth PTA committee members: Wendy, Howard, Gary, Anna, and Queenie! And a very special tribute to our immediate past Chairperson, Michelle. The immense time, energy, and heart she has poured into the PTA are truly unparalleled, and we are beyond grateful to her. Thank you, guys!

As a committee member myself last term, I can tell you from firsthand experience that everything you just saw in the video recap was the result of their tireless dedication. Of course, a huge part of what makes the PTA run so smoothly is our incredible parent volunteers. You guys are the backbone of all we achieve, so a big thank you to all our volunteers!

I’d also like to take this opportunity to introduce our new team for this term: our Vice Chairman Daniel, our Secretary Queenie—who unfortunately couldn't be with us tonight, but sends her warmest regards—our Treasurer Andy, our two Activity and Welfare Officers Yoyo and Amy, and our Coordinator Kathona.

As we all know, the PTA is all about teamwork. It’s never just a seven-person show. It requires a seamless partnership between the school, our amazing parent volunteers, and every one of you. That’s why we really need—and look forward to—your active participation to make all our wonderful events happen. For those who have joined us before, you know just how fun our TSL events can be! And for the parents of our new Primary One students, please, get ready to experience the joyful vibe here in the days to come.

Both the school and we, as parents, completely understand how crucial a happy learning and living environment is for our children's growth. I learned this firsthand through my little one, Sophie. Whenever I get involved in school events, the pride and happiness in her eyes is the best reward a father could ask for. More than that, it taught me a profound lesson: being actively present in our children's school life is how we walk beside them and understand their world.

I know that every parent in this room wants that exact same connection with their own child. That kind of close bond means the world to all our kids. And for us parents? These are priceless memories that we will treasure forever. So, I strongly encourage each and every one of you to step up and get involved. Whether you sign up as a parent volunteer or just bring your family to enjoy the events, your presence makes a huge difference. Come build these memories with us—trust me, you won't regret it, and your children will be so incredibly proud to see you there.

But while we love the fun parts, we remain fully dedicated to our core purpose. To serve as a vital bridge to facilitate effective communication between parents and the school, we need you to share your voices with us. Speaking from my experience, I can tell you that our school really listens to us. They truly take our thoughts to heart. They really do try their best to balance the well-being of the students with practical considerations, finding the best possible solutions to improve teaching and enhance our campus life. Honestly, there's no way the seven of us can know everything happening across the whole school. That's why our doors—and our ears—are always open to you. We are genuinely eager to stay connected with you, and we are always ready to listen to your thoughts, and your voices will be heard and thoughtfully followed by the school.

I’ve been talking for a bit now, but I think we all know why we are here tonight: it’s for our kids. I believe that all of us parents here would give everything to see them grow up happy. Together with my committee, the school, and your ongoing support and interaction, I pledge to give my absolute best for the children we love so much. Because at the end of the day, we share one proud identity:

We are Camoesians!

Thank you very much.
